

Teaching Philosophy at NVS Preschool...

We deliver American Common Core Curriculum using inquiry based learning strategies.

Our program is designed to educate children through play, activities, projects, critical thinking, problem solving, and discovery.

We work with children on every level: individual, pair, small group and large group.

We provide learning opportunities for children of every learning type and ability.

Classes Offered at NVS Preschool

Nursery (3-4 years old)

Our nursery is designed to transition children from the home environment to school. The focus is on learning through play, music, and art. Children learn to express their basic needs in English and to understand simple directions. They begin to describe the things they see and feel. They also learn motor skills that they will need later to play sports, write and draw. Emphasis is placed on the social skills and classroom routines, learning how to use tools in the classroom and how to play with others.

Pre-Kindergarten (4-5 years old)

This class applies English to concepts like the home, family, and everyday life. Here children learn in greater depth about phonics and numbers. They learn to express understanding about subjects such as plants, animals, the senses and the seasons. Activities are designed to improve their hand-eye coordination and to teach them how to follow more complex directions. They begin to ask and answer questions, think critically, and solve problems.

Kindergarten (5-6 years old)

This program is the most academically rigorous of the three, using more time for lessons and less time for play. We use games, sports, activities, and music to learn and express understanding in English. Students learn reading and writing in this class. The concepts in science, math, and social studies increase in difficulty. They learn to ask and answer more complex questions, to think more deeply about what they know, and gain the confidence to be lifelong learners.
